

RETIRED DOESN'T MEAN TIRED.

Clara Moll keeps her dance card open twice a week. She shares her passion for line dancing as a volunteer instructor at the Midland Community Center. With an average class of 20+ seniors, she leads them through the Texas Two-Step and sashays them into healthier bodies and minds.

*Keeping seniors on the move.
That's her passion. What's yours?*

GIVE. ADVOCATE. VOLUNTEER.
LIVE UNITED
United Way of Midland County

LIGHTING THE WAY TO SAVINGS.

Helping others has been a life-long pursuit and retirement from Dow Chemical gives Greg Janoch more time to give back. Through West Midland Family Center's Connect and Serve Program he volunteers with the staff to find creative ways to save money. Their ideas are already saving West Midland over $6,000 in energy costs annually, with more projects on the horizon.

*Sharing his talents for change.
That's his goal. What's yours?*

GIVE. ADVOCATE. VOLUNTEER.
LIVE UNITED

United Way of Midland County

RALLIED OTHERS TO FEED THE NEED.

Hundreds of local families rely on the generosity of food pantries to feed their families. Aditya Middha saw the need at Railway Family Center and organized a food and diaper drive to fill the shelves. With a little help from his friends at Woodcrest Elementary, he collected over 200 food items and diapers to help local families in need.

Giving to others is his mission. What's yours?

GIVE. ADVOCATE. VOLUNTEER.
LIVE UNITED

